Reactions to Shellfire

Well actually you can't describe it, it's terrifying especially when there's not far, a 100 yards, 50 yards from you and get all the bits and pieces off them. You get the young people and you train them and they actually can't. It's impossible to tell them what it's going to be like when they're actually in the fray of it. Like shellfire's worse than bombing, because with a bombing raid you're there and they're off.
